

The Northern Lights of Old Aberdeen Harmony

Piano

The figure-note notation consists of ten rows of measures. Each measure is a rectangular box divided into two horizontal sections. The top section contains notes represented by colored circles (grey, red, brown, yellow, black, blue, green) and horizontal lines of varying lengths. The bottom section is empty. The notes are arranged in a sequence across the rows, with some notes spanning multiple measures. The colors correspond to different pitches or timbres in the piece. The final row contains a single measure with a grey circle and a horizontal line.
