

The Northern Lights Harmony

Piano

This figurenotes piano score consists of five staves, each representing a different layer of the composition. The layers are color-coded and include:

- Layer 1 (Top): Represented by grey circles and horizontal grey bars. It features several colored dots (yellow, black, blue, red, brown) and small green and yellow rectangular blocks.
- Layer 2: Represented by grey circles and horizontal grey bars. It includes a series of red dots and green rectangular blocks.
- Layer 3: Represented by grey circles and horizontal grey bars. It contains blue dots and horizontal blue bars, along with brown dots and green rectangular blocks.
- Layer 4: Represented by grey circles and horizontal grey bars. It features red dots and horizontal red bars, with some green and yellow blocks.
- Layer 5 (Bottom): Represented by grey circles and horizontal grey bars. It includes red dots, green rectangular blocks, and a small yellow dot.

The score is set against a grid of vertical and horizontal lines, typical of figurenotes notation.
