The first system of musical notation consists of a four-staff grid. The top two staves are empty. The third staff contains a red box labeled 'C'' in the second measure, with a green dot on the line above it and an arrow pointing up. The fourth staff contains a black box labeled 'G^m' in the third measure, with a green dot on the line below it and an arrow pointing up. Below the grid, there are four blue boxes labeled 'F' in the first, second, third, and fourth measures. A brown box labeled 'D^m' is positioned below the third measure, with a horizontal line extending from its left side to the right edge of the grid.

The second system of musical notation consists of a four-staff grid. The top two staves are empty. The third staff contains a green box labeled 'B^b' in the first measure, with a brown dot on the line below and a blue dot on the line above. The fourth staff contains a red box labeled 'C'' in the second measure, with a green dot on the line above it and an arrow pointing up. The word 'FINE' is written in the third measure of the fourth staff. Below the grid, there are four blue boxes labeled 'F' in the first, second, third, and fourth measures.

The third system of musical notation consists of a four-staff grid. The top two staves are empty. The third staff contains a red box labeled 'C' in the second measure, with a green dot on the line above it and an arrow pointing up. The fourth staff contains a black box labeled 'G^m' in the first measure, with a green dot on the line below it and an arrow pointing up. Below the grid, there are two blue boxes labeled 'F' in the first and third measures. A brown box labeled 'D^m' is positioned below the first measure, with a horizontal line extending from its left side to the right edge of the grid.

The diagram shows two systems of musical notation for piano accompaniment. Each system consists of a five-measure staff with four lines. The first system has a red block labeled 'C'' in the first measure, a green dot on the second line of the second measure, a white box on the second line of the third measure, and a red block labeled 'C'' in the fifth measure. Below the staff are blue blocks labeled 'F' in the first, second, and fourth measures, and a blue block labeled 'F' in the third measure. The second system has a red block labeled 'C'' in the first measure, a green dot on the second line of the second measure, a red block labeled 'C' in the fourth measure, and a red block labeled 'C' in the fifth measure. Below the staff are blue blocks labeled 'F' in the second and third measures, a brown block labeled 'D^m' in the fourth measure, and a black block labeled 'G'' in the fifth measure. A blue circle with the text 'C al FINE' is positioned at the end of the fifth measure.
